REV. MR. CLARK ON PASSION PLAY

A Splendid Address at Smith Memorial.

One of the Largest Audiences That Ever Assembled At Smith Memorial Hall Heard Pastor of First Presbyterian Church Tell of His Experiences At Oberammergau—He Went Prepared To Condemn But Came Away Enthusiastic In Its Praise—Violin Selections by Mr. Roy.

Smith Memorial Hall held one of the largest audiences since its erection last night to hear Rev. Melton Clark's lecture on the Passion Play at Oberammergau as he viewed it the past summer. The First Presbyterian congregation was there in numbers, together with many representatives from other Presbyterian churches of the city and from other denominations, with quite a sprinkling of college girls. The main auditorium, gallery and class rooms were filled with people.

Unfortunately the stereopticon slides which Mr. Clark expected to use did not arrive but as one who heard the lecture expressed it, "Mr. Clark's word pictures were so complete and satisfying that there was no occasion for the stereopticon pictures."

Prior to the opening of the address, Mr. Robert Roy played two splendid violin selections to piano accompaniment by Mr. Claud Robeson.

Mr. Clark gave a beautiful description of Oberammergau, the Bavarian village where for many years the Passion Play, once a year, has been presented. He told of the habits of the people, their dress and surroundings.

Then he passed to a beautiful description of the play itself, which he made so realistic that many said that they almost felt as if they were actually in Oberammergau witnessing the Passion Play for themselves.

Mr. Clark stated that he went to Oberammergau prepared to criticise adversely the presentation of the Passion Play for he had always had an idea that the part of Christ could not be taken without sacrilege being committed. But, on witnessing for himself the presentation of the Passion Play, he had all his previous misgivings removed and felt that good, not harm, came from the Oberammergau presentation. He said that in witnessing the Passion Play he gained a conception of Christ as a human being that he had never been able to get before.

The various participants in the Passion Play, he declared, threw themselves with such fervor into their work that a naturalness was obtained that would not be thought possible and that at the same time tended to dissipate the notion that the tragic and soul-stirring scenes would not lend themselves to portrayal by people of this age.

At the conclusion of Mr. Clark's address, many members of the audience surrounded him and expressed in emphatic terms their appreciation and enjoyment of his lecture.

ROBBED DR[illegible]ERS IN [illegible]BER SHOP

Got Away With $9.75—Will Evans Had Been Running Rressing Club In Crump —&Alexander's Place and He Knew the Lay of the Land.

Two money drawers in the barber shop of Crump and Alexander, colored, on South Elm street near the corner of East Washington and Elm streets, were rifled yesterday afternoon and the sum of $9.75 taken.

Disappearing at the same time as the money was Will Evans, a colored youth, who was running a pressing club in the rear and who had been in town only about a week, stating on arrival that he was from Durham.

At the time the money was taken there were no customers in the shop and the barbers were standing outside the front door. Each barber has a drawer but the thief thought it safe to rob only two of them. From the drawer of John Dillard he got $6.75 and from that of J C. Crump $3.00 or approximately that amount.

A QUILTING PARTY.

Memories of Grandmother's Days Recalled At Social Event Given At Residence of Mrs. J. M. Rankin by Wheeler Philathea Class.

In these days when "old-fashioned" things have become stylish, it is no wonder that bright Philathea young women should go back 25 or 50 years and from memories of grandmother's days bring into reality a "quilting party." And so at the pretty new home of Mrs. J. M. Rankin last evening from eight to eleven there assembled some 40 or 50 young women with needles and thimbles and red thread to "tack" a quilt which had been suspended on 4 chairs in the dining room. It was a beautiful picture as these young women dressed in white crowded around to complete the quilt, amid fun and happy conversation and the not altogether awkward stitching of some of the young men who were fortunate enough to gain admission.

There were 56 squares in the quilt and 16 or more names of friends had been worked on each with red thread, making a total of more than 800 names.

A small fee of 10 cents each had been charged for each signature It was found that about $91.00 had found its way into the class treasury by means of the quilt, several months having been required to get the squares ready.

As the quilting progressed the old-fashioned melody "The Quilting Party" was sung, and afterwards refreshments appropriate to the occasion were served, consisting of peanuts, ginger snaps, lemonade and apples. Games were played. Music and readings were also given.

Mrs. Rankin proved on this, as on former occasions, to be a most delightful hostess, and the Wheeler Philatheas will remember this as one of the brightest and happiest of their social evenings.

As a class they are steadily growing in numbers and in service and they are seeking to carry out the Philathea spirit of "Young Women at Work for Young Women, All Standing by the Bible and the Bible School," and their motto, "We Do Things."

SPENT MANY YEARS IN FAR EAST, MAY COME HERE

Cameron Johnson, of Richmond, Invited To Give Stereopticon Lecture Under Auspices of Laymen's Missionary Movement.

Mr. Cameron Johnson, of Richmond, Va., who spent many years in the far East and has one of the finest collections of stereopticon views in the world, is considering making a tour of the cities of this section giving a series of lectures on Japan, Korea, China, India and Palestine, and at the meeting of the executive committee of the Laymen's Missionary Movement yesterday a resolution was adopted requesting Mr. Johnson to come to Greensboro under the auspices of the Laymen's Missionary Movement if he makes the contemplated tour.

Encouraging reports were received as to men's mission study classes being organized. It was decided to hold a meeting early in November to plan for the execution of the work decided upon at the late conference.

The National Laymen's Missionary Movement have not yet secured the executive secretary for Greensboro but they are considering several good parties.

Sentenced To Roads.

In Municipal court yesterday Judge Eure sent Whit Williams, a white man, to the roads for thirty days in default of a fine and costs.

PLAY FINALS IN TOURNAMENT

Mr. M'Alister Wins Golf Club Trophy.

Making the Second Time He Has Won It—If Victorious the Third Time He Will Hold the Cup As His Own—Mrs. Jordan Winner of the Ladies' Event—Messrs. Winans and Vaughn Tie In Consolation Match.

The finals in the golf tournament of the Greensboro Golf Club yesterday afternoon resulted in Mr. A. W. McAlister winning the club trophy in Class A. This is the second time Mr. McAlister has won the cup. Should he be victorious in the third tournament he will have the honor of holding the cup as his own.

Mr. P. W. Schenck won the finals in Class B, winning a dozen golf balls by his play.

Mrs. James F. Jordan was successful in the ladies' event, taking the golf score book offered by the club.

In the consolation match Mr. W. S. B. Winans made the remarkable score of 41 for the course. Mr. R. G. Vaughn tied Mr. Winans in this handicap event. They will play the second nine holes next week for the decision.

Mr. George Eddy, the instructor, played an exhibition round to a score of 40.

Great interest and enthusiasm have been aroused in golf circles of the city by this event, a series of which is to be held during the fall.

By the arrangement of the handicap, the merest beginner is placed on an equal footing with the seasoned devotees of "ye ancient and honourable" game of golf.

To those interested in the game the club extends an invitation to confer with the membership committee who will gladly post their names for consideration.

CHARGED WITH THEFT

White Woman Arrested—Accused of Stealing Cloth.

Mrs. Cora Farmington, who lives in the country near here, was arrested by Policeman McCuiston yesterday on the charge of stealing seven yards of cloth from Meyer's department store. She gave bond in the sum of $50 for her appearance for trial this morning. She states that she thought she had paid for the cloth, but as it had not been wrapped up, her account of the affair does not seem exactly plausible.

Her husband, who was in town with her but not in the store with her when the cloth is alleged to have been taken, says he cannot account for her conduct, that she had money in her purse and that he also had money.

She wept when arrested and her husband was also greatly distressed. Accompanying the mother and father to town from the country, where their home is, were their two children, one seven weeks old and the other five or six years old.

Park Drive Defeats West End At Football.

In an interesting and hard fought game of football at Cone Athletic Park yesterday Park Drive defeated West End by the score of 12 to 0. In the first quarter Park Drive received the ball and after kicking and heavy line plunges sent Murray through for a touch down. K. Dillon easily kicked goal, Park Drive 6. West End 0. Third, West End received the ball it went over in middle of field and Park Drive sent another one across for a touch down. K. Dillon easily kicked goal. Park Drive 12, West End 0. After the game Capt. Hagan said he was very proud of his men in the first game. The feature of the game was the playing of Wyrick, P. Dillon, Hagan, K. Dillon.

Miss Lillian M. Phelps To Speak At West Market Tomorrow.

Miss Lillian M. Phelps, national W. C. T. U. lecturer, will speak at West Market Street Methodist church tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock. Miss Phelps lectured here Tuesday night last and made a most favorable impression. She was at the State W. C. T. U. convention in New Bern and so pleased were the New Bern people with her temperance talks that they persuaded her to give them another appointment, which she kindly consented to do. It is expected that she will be heard by a large congregation in this city tomorrow.

LAUNCHING OF SEA LEVIATHAN

Olympic The Largest Vessel Afloat.

She Will Carry 2,500 Passengers and Give Them All the Luxuries of a City and Country Hotel, Including a Tennis Court—To Have a Speed of 22 Knots —Sister Ship Titanic Is Building.

Belfast, Oct. 21.—The White Star Line's giant steamer Olympic was launched successfully yesterday. Thousands of spectators watched the monster hull glide swiftly down the ways. The Olympic is the largest steamer now afloat.

The Olympic exceeds by nearly 100 feet in length and 13,000 tons any other ship afloat. Her principal dimensions are: Length over all, 882 1-2 feet; breadth over all, 92 1-2 feet; breadth over boat deck, 94 feet; height from bottom of keel to boat deck, 97; height from bottom of keep to top captain's house, 105 1-2 feet.

The gigantic measurements of this vessel are best appreciated when it is known that in length the Olympic overtops the height of the Metropolitan Tower in New York by 182 feet, is twice as long as the height of the dome of St. Peter's at Rome, and equals in length the total drop of the famous Bridal Veil Fall in the Yosemite Valley. Indeed, if the Olympic and her sister-vessel Titanic, soon to be launched, were placed end to end under the Brooklyn Bridge they would completely block the East River and extend over the shore 100 feet on each side. It is also interesting to note that the length of each of these ships is four times the height of Bunker Hill monument.

In each ship, 3,000,000 steel rivets, weighing in all 1,200 tons, have been employed to bind the massive steel plates, insuring the greatest stability; and the rudder of each vessel weighs 100 tons, yet will be moved by electricity almost as lightly as a feather.

These monsters of the deep will each accommodate 2,500 passengers, carrying a crew of 860, and because of the enormous size of the ships the accommodations, both as regards the several public apartments and the passenger staterooms, will be exceptionally spacious, while the beauty and luxury of the appointments will surpass anything hitherto attempted.

Special attractions, such as Turkish and electric bath establishments, swimming pools, tennis courts, sun parlors, sports, decks and palm courts, will be provided in addition to restaurants, dining saloons, lounges, smoking apartments, elevators, etc., all of which will add much to the pleasure of a voyage on these marvels of marine achievement.

Since the advent of the Great Eastern in 1858 no steamer has created such general interest as the Olympic, not only on account of her surpassing size, but also because of the immense forward steps thus marked in other lines of marine accomplishment, the outcome of many centuries of conflict with the sea.

The Olympic will join the White Star Line's mail service between New York, Plymouth, Cherbourg and Southampton next summer, followed by the Titanic in the early fall.

ROOSEVELT RAGES AS A FOE NEARLY STARTS A RIOT

Three Thousand Persons in Terrace Garden When a Man Challenges the Colonel on His Trust Record.

New York, Oct. 21.—Col. Theodore Roosevelt's attempt to fight down a man who insisted upon asking pertinent questions and the Colonel's taking of a place beside Bourke Cockran, who has flopped to the Republican side, supplied two picturesque incidents in the course of the former President's speechmaking which was done in two places in Manhattan and one in Brooklyn last evening.

It was a Roosevelt evening throughout and the audiences that packed two halls and a skating rink appeared deeply interested in him.

Soon after opening his address at Terrace Garden, Col. Roosevelt was brought face to face with a situation that made him grit his teeth, put on his fighting face and shake his fists. Big beads of sweat fell from his face. He had received a friendly greeting from 3,000 persons and had started his speech in good form by reminding the voters present that they were in the district that first sent him into public life.

He had not gone far in his speech, however, before hisses and shouts of disapproval were heard from the left side of the hall. When the Colonel was talking of honesty he shouted:

"Am I right? I will be glad to have anyone answer me."

From the hostile ranks at the left a man sprang forward and cried:

"I challenge you, Mr. Roosevelt. I challenge you on your own record!"

Instantly there was an uproar. From the body of men at the left, cheers and calls of "Let's hear the challenge!"

Mr. Roosevelt's friends in the main portion of the hall howled, leaped up, waved flags and yelled, "Put him out!" meaning, of course, the one who had dared to interrupt.

For a minute it appeared the meeting might break up in a riot. Roosevelt himself brought about a semblance of order by seizing the speaker's gavel and pounding on the desk, waving his arms to his friends in command to be silent.

"I want to hear that man," he cried in his falsetto.

"I demand to be heard as an American citizen," retorted the man on the floor. "I cite first to you your first message to Congress. Then you went down to Pittsburg on July of that year and before 250,000 American citizens you said special legislation was a necessity to regulate the socalled trusts and railroads. On the second day of December of the same year in your message to Congress you said that the men who constructed railroads aided our commerce and manufacturers and should not be tampered with. Now you are here talking tonight about honesty in public life. You, the same Colonel."

There was an outburst of applause from the left side of the hall and renewed cries of "Put him out," from the Roosevelt followers.

The Colonel walked to the left side of the platform. His face was almost purple and he cried:

"Now sit down! I am glad to have your question because it is an example of the absolutely conscienceless misrepresentation that is a part of this campaign."

The man jumped to his feet again, but was pulled to his seat. Mr. Roosevelt continued:

"I have said in the message he speaks of and I have said many times since that the honest man, the honest railroad, the honest corporation is entitled to all proper profit from the public service done. The trouble with the people represented by the man who has just made this interruption is that they don't draw any distinction between rendering service and swindling."

BRIEF IN THE PANAMA SUIT

It Was Filed Yesterday in U. S. Supreme Court.

Instrument Seeks To Show That the Indictment Against the Press Publishing Company, Publishers of the New York World, Should Not Have Been Qaushed—Argued by Leading Representatives of the Department of Justice.

Washington, Oct. 21.—The government's brief in the so-called Panama libel suit of the United States against the Press Publishing Company of New York, the corporation publishing the New York World, was filed today in the Supreme court of the United States. It was argued by Attorney General Wickersham, James C. M. Reynolds and Stuart McNamara. It not only contained a statement of facts, but an argument in support of its position that the indictment against the Press Publishing Company should not have been quashed.

"In effect," says the government's brief, "the published articles charge that Charles P. Taft, Douglas Robinson and William Nelson Cromwell with P. Pierpont Morgan and others, acting through the Aemircan syndicate, obtained control of the securities of the French Company which owned the Panama canal route and its properties, so that the approximate sum of about $4,000,000, 'aided by the intimacy which they had enjoyed with Theodore Roosevelt, then President of the United States, and brother-in-law Douglas Robinson, and William H. Taft, then secretary of war, and brother of Charles P. Taft, and by the co-operation of these officials with them, they were enabled to effect the sale of the Panama canal to the United States for $40,000,000, and reap a profit of some $36,000,000 which was divided, as charged, among government favorites in the world of politics and finance."

The substantial question which the government claims is before the court was set out in the brief as being whether the United States courts have jurisdiction to punish a corporation which printed in the city of New York a newspaper containing a libel criminal under the laws of the state of New York and circulated copies of the same within the federal territory of West Point. The government's claim is based on an act of Congress of 1898 which the government urges "operates to transfer the state law to the federal territory for the purpose of punishing acts committed there, which if performed outside and in the jurisdiction of the state would be amenable to its laws."

The government argues that it is not only the right but the duty of Congress so to legislate concerning territory under its exclusive jurisdiction as to preserve peace and good order therein, asserting that: "Because one may be punished for issuing a libel in New York is no reason for allowing him to go free for all punishment for circulating it at West Point. The people in the latter place are entitled to protection."

The inconvenience to accused of being subjected to prosecutions in sundry places where their alleged libels are circulated was met with the argument that "the inconvenience which may be suffered by criminals has not generally been regarded as adequate reason for permitting them to operate without restraint."

The suggestion that the offense charged could be punished in New York state courts and therefore was not intended to be included in the act of 1898 brought forth the argument from the government "that the state cannot punish an offense committed at West Point against the United States."

Death of Mrs. W. G. Anderson.

Mrs. W. G. Anderson, of Winston-Salem, died Oct. 17 at 4 o'clock at the home of Mrs. J. H. Suttenfield. She leaves five children—four daughters and one son as follows: Mr. E. L. Anderson, Mrs. J. H. Suttenfield, Mrs. W. P. Sharp, of Winston-Salem; Mrs. D. C. Clapp, of Greensboro; Mrs. W. T. Southern, of Madison. The burial took place at Madison at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, Oct. 18.

WHAT THE KIDNEYS DO.

Their Unceasing Work Keeps Us Strong and Healthy.

All the blood in the body passes through the kidneys once every three minutes. The kidneys filter the blood. They work night and day. When healthy they remove about 500 grains of impure matter daily, when unhealthy some part of this impure matter is left in the blood. This brings on many diseases and symptoms—pain in the back, headache, nervousness, hot, dry skin, rheumatism, gout, gravel, disorders of eyesight and hearing, dizziness, irregular heart, debility, drowsiness, dropsy, deposits in the urine, etc. But if you keep the filters right you will have no trouble with your kidneys.

Robert W .Gillie, Arlington Street, Reidsville, N. C., says: "I can heartily recommend Doan's Kidney Pills as a splendid remedy for kidney complaint. I was relieved of pains through the small of my back by short use of this remedy. I did not take Doan's Kidney Pills as repularly as I should to have obtained the best results, but I nevertheless found them very beneficial."

ELEPHANT KILLS HER TRAINER

Queen in Winter Quarters at Jersey City, Seizes Robert S. Shields in Trunk and Crushes Life Out—Regular Keeper Then Tames Beast.

New York World.

Queen, a huge African elephant, eighty-sevn years old, killed Robert S. Shields, who called himself an animal trainer, in Jersey City yesterday.

Queen, who weighs 7,500 pounds and stands ten feet high, was infuriated when Shields, whom she did not know, approached her preparatory to feeding her. She threw her trunk around him, drew him to her, knelt on him, then trampled him to death. Every bone in his body was broken.

The elephant, which is trained, has been performing with the Frank L. Robbins show for four years. Charles Curtis, her trainer, who has been with her all that time, rode astride her neck a fortnight ago into her winter quarters, a barn in the menagerie of the Bartels Company, animal importers, whose grounds cover several acres on Communipaw avenue, near the Hackensack River.

Curtis was not on the ground yesterday afternoon, Shields told Charles Reed, his negro helper, that he would feed Queen.

"Better let Mr. Curtis do that," said Reed.

"You go and get the hay," ordered Shields peremptorily, and carryin g an elephant prong such as trainers use to catch the beasts' trunks and to prod them he entered the barn.

In her rage Queen had torn the chain that held her hind leg to a stake. Said Reed later:

"I was just going to start in the barn with the hay when I heard a noise like a blow. I ran to the door. Queen's trunk was around Shields's waist. She slammed him against the side of the barn, lifted him up and threw him down on the floor, put her forward foot on his face and leaned forward. Then she knelt on his breast.

"She was loose. She had grabbed him while he was trying to chain her leg. She was ugly. I knew Shields was dead. So I didn't go in. I jumped on our fast bay mare and rode as fast as she could gallop to West Side avenue and told the mounted policeman and called Curtis from his Hotel."

Curtis and Mounted Policeman Anderson got to the yards at the same time. Frank Meyer, a trainer, was trying vainly to pacify Queen. When Curtis armed only with a pitchfork, appeared she was trampling Shields's body and tossing it. Her tusks had torn Shields frightfully. When Curtis approached her Queen's rage subsided. He called her name, patted her shoulder, moved her back and tossed away Shields' body. It was taken to No. 36 Malory avenue, where Shields lived with his sisters. He was a bachelor, thirty years old, and had been employed twelve years by the Bartels company.

"She has her good days and her bad days," said Curtis last Night. "By bad luck it happened that Shields, to whom she had not become accustomed, went near her when she was in one of her tantrums. I never heard of her killing any one before, but when she has been in bad temper she has struck men with her trunk, but never hurt them much."

The Shoe With 30 Days More Wear in it Than Any Other $3.50 Man's Shoe

There is no need for us to dwell upon the economical price—that is self-evident. No need to impress you with CRADDOCK serviceability. We know the materials that go into this shoe. We know the kind of soles, counters, heels and upper stock used by the manufacturer. Therefore we know that the CRADDOCK Shoe will give you more service than any other $3.50 man's shoe.

All we want is for you to see the CRADDOCK Shoe—acquaint yourself with its smart style, or we should say styles, for there are over half a hundred different CRADDOCK models for fall and winter wear. It won't even be necessary for us to suggest that you buy. You will come to the conclusion that this is what you came in for the minute you lay eyes on these shoes.

Just a Word About CRADDOCK Styles

The number of men not particular about the style of their footwear grows less and less each day. Men may differ as to what constitutes style, but they follow faithfully that which is correct from their own view-point.

Now, CRADDOCK Shoes are designed in a variety of styles created to meet the ideas of men of various tastes—swagger styles for high-voltage young fellows, more conservative models for men of modified tastes, and "common sense" styles for those men who complain about "the exaggerated shoe styles of the present day." CRADDOCK Styles would sell CRADDOCK Shoes without our statement that the CRADDOCK Shoes will wear 30 days longer than any other $3.50 shoe, but this fact gives an added value which makes the CRADDOCK Shoe much more desirable than any other $3.50 shoe for men.

DAY 762. PHONES NIGHT 1442

The Sleepwalker

By ARTHUR EDWARDS.

Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.

And so, my boy, you're going to the city to take a position in business. It's more than seventy years since I did the same thing myself.

When I was your age I was apprenticed to a New York china merchant. The apprentice usually lived in the family of his employer, and I lived with the Van Horns. Mr. Van Horn's office was on the ground floor of his house, the living rooms being upstairs. The house stood on the bank of the East river, and from it we could see the ships in which he was interested come in to the slips on the other side of the street, poking their bowsprits almost in at our windows.

I was but fourteen years of age when I was apprenticed to Mr. Van Horn. He had but one child, Katherine, who was twelve, to whom I soon stood as a brother. Before the term of my apprenticeship had expired we had become lovers, and I preferred to remain where I was rather than accept a position that would separate me from Katherine. But of this Mr. Van Horn was ignorant.

Meanwhile Mrs. Van Horn had died, and her place in the household management was taken by a housekeeper, a middle aged widow named Clark. Mrs. Clark had no sooner come into the family than it was apparent that she aimed at marrying Mr. Van Horn. By that time I was nineteen years old and Katherine was sixteen. It was natural that we should unite against the common enemy, for Katherine was up in arms against any one who aspired to take her mother's place.

During my boyhood I became a somnambulist. The first time I walked in my sleep I awoke to find myself standing before a mirror brushing my hair. I was terribly shocked and, running to my bed, covered my head and lay trembling till morning. Another time, when the bowsprit of a large ship extended over the house, I found myself one night on the bowsprit. I saved myself from falling into the street by catching a rope. I had gone on to the roof, got on to the bowsprit and was shinning down.

At that time there were no safes such as we have now. A modern safe compared with the strong box of that day is like an ocean liner compared with one of the caravels in which Columbus crossed the Atlantic. I well remember the strong box Mr. Van Horn kept in one of the rooms on the main floor of his house, a room he used for his private office. It was covered with strips of iron interlaced like basketwork. But it was opened by a big iron key that would now serve for a stable door.

All of a sudden Mr. Van Horn began to miss important papers from his strong box. He confided his loss to Mrs. Clark, and there was at once a great change in his treatment of me. It was plain to me that she had not only opened his eyes to my relations with his daughter, of which he had been oblivious, but she led him to suspect that I was stealing his papers.

She herself was oblivious to nothing that was going on and had not only discovered that Katherine and I were lovers, but that we stood in her way to become Mrs. Van Horn. But Mr. Van Horn was a secretive man, and, though he was seriously poisoned against me and was ambitious for his daughter to become the wife of an eminent man, he pretended to disbelieve the charge against me, preferring to set a watch upon me without letting any one in the house know that he was doing so. He slept with his door open at the other end of the hall, on which my room also faced, and since he was a light sleeper it was almost impossible for me to leave my room without his knowing it.

Well, one night I woke up from one of my somnambulistic walks, and my astonishment was as great as, if not greater than, ever before. I was standing in the counting room on the main floor, Mr. Van Horn was standing in the door that opened into his private office, while by the light of a candle Mrs. Clark was seen kneeling beside the strong box.

"Go to your room," said Mr. Van Horn to me.

I lost no time in doing so, but soon recovered from the shock of my sudden awakening from somnambulism, for I saw that my physical defect had made a great change in the situation. The next morning I saw Mrs. Clark packing to leave, and before noon she was out of the house, never to return.

As soon as she had gone Mr. Van Horn called me into his private office and told me of the loss of his papers, his consultation with his housekeeper and her turning his suspicions against me. The night before he had heard me get out of bed and, going himself into the hall, had seen me start on what he soon became convinced was a somnambulistic tour. He and I were both in our bare feet and moved with a catlike tread. When he saw me go down into the office it occurred to him that I was stealing his papers in my sleep. But instead of that I was leading him to the thief, who was at that time engaged in removing more papers from his strong box.

Considering that I had saved him from the toils of a bad woman and that he discovered Katherine's strong love for me, Mr. Van Horn consented to our engagement and afterward, when we were married, made me his partner.

The small boy of Danville is inconsolable. The circus couldn't show there Thursday on account of wet grounds. Oh so near and yet so far!

New York City has had another police shake-up, but these shake-ups are so frequent in New York that their news value is necessarily not very great.

Tuesday night Whitehead Klutz, of Salisbury, will make a campaign speech here. We advise our readers, the ladies included, to go out and hear this young man. He is a good specimen of the college man in politics—thoroughly informed, a trained speaker, correct in his style and in his thinking. The young men of the community should make it a point to hear Mr. Klutz.

Congressman McKinlay denies that the internal revenue tax is a tax, for, says he, you don't have to use tobacco and you don't have to drink. We are confident that a man is better off without drinking and better off without using the weed and we believe that people generally and the condition of society as a whole would be so much better off without liquor that its manufacture and sale ought to be forbidden by law in every State where there would be a strong public sentiment to back up such a law. But when that is not done and it is taxed and wherever tobacco is taxed, the tax bears on the people and there is no way to get around the fact. The internal revenue tax, though an indirect tax, is as much a tax as any tax that is levied. And it bears on the poor, for the poor feel that they are entitled to their little luxuries (we have tobacco in mind now particularly) just the same as the rich are to theirs. We believe that the ideal man could get along nicely in this world without anything but the bare necessities of food and clothing, but there has never been but one ideal man.

It has been said in criticism of the Democratic administration of affairs in this State that the inmates of the Soldiers' Home at Raleigh are compelled to eat and drink out of tinware. An old soldier, who lives at the Home, writes the News and Observer exploding the campaign canard for such of course it was. The old veteran who writes in defence of the tableware which he and his comrades use, is, it occurs to us, a trifle rambling in his style, but we gather from what he says that some of the tableware (we assume that the rest is china as he expressly says that tinware is not used) is what is known as enamelware, the use of which can constitute no cause for adverse criticism on the part of reasonable people. It is our conviction that the State has not done enough for its indigent Confederate soldiers, but had the Republicans been in power we have no idea they would have done anything like as well for the old soldiers as the Democrats have done. The letter of the old soldier to which we referred above is as follows:

Several days ago, we noted in your local columns a criticism in regard to tableware used in our dining room, and, since then, we have been reading almost every day, unfavorable comments along same line in various papers from different parts of the State.

We see nothing offensive in either criticism or comments alluded to, but, regard them as somewhat misleading in character, unnecessary and calculated to awaken erroneous impressions in the minds of the generality of readers throughout your territory of editorial influence; also as casting an unintentional shadow along the pathway of our worthy and efficient Home officials in general—both past and present.

It is true that we use in part, as tableware fine steel plate, beautifully enamelled inside and out with white porcelain trimmed and decorated with appropriate colors resembling in type and finish, the most modern on markets and when reviewed upon chipping with old age, we consider it good enough for the President's Mansion, or any of the crowned heads of Europe, Asia or Africa. But, as to the old-fashioned tinware—the flat bottomed tin cup—the rattling and rusty old tin plate, etc. Nobody here has ever seen anything of the kind in tableware at the North Carolina Soldiers Home, and we hope, never will.

The Difference Between a Sanitarium and a Sanatorium.

Scientific American.

The words "sanitarium" and "sanatorium" are popularly understood to have the same meaning and are generally used interchangeably, when designating (or describing) places of refuge for sick people, but there is, in fact, quite a distinction between the meaning of the two words. In answer to a correspondent on this subject the Literary Digest says:

"The distinction between these words lies in the fact that they are derived from two different Latin roots. 'Sanatorium' is derived from the Latin sanatorius, meaning health-giving. The terms relates specially to 'an institution for treatment of disease or care of invalids; especially an establishment employing natural therapeutic agents or conditions peculiar to the locality, or some specific treatment, or treating particular diseases.' On the other hand, 'sanitarium' is derived from the Latin sanitas, from sanus, meaning whole, or sound. 'Sanitarium' relates more specifically to 'a place where the hygienic conditions are preservative of health, as distinguished from one where therapeutic agencies are employed.' Hence it is the province of a 'sanitarium' to preserve health, that of a 'sanatorium' to restore it. Care should be exercised in combining the proper vowels in these two words, in order to indicate correctly the derivation."

Get Busy!

Cincinnati Times-Star.

The world rolls on from day to day, and idle men are in the way; the loafing graft will never pay, get busy then, get busy! The man who loiters in the shade, to watch the busy men's parade, will find his hopes of fortune fade, get busy, then, get busy! If you, in feeble style depend, upon assistance from a friend, you're sure to fail before the end, get busy, then, get busy! Make up your mind that you will pack your burden on your own broad back, and, brave and buoyant, hit the track—get busy, then, get busy! Just feel that you're of equal worth to any doggone man on earth, regardless of his age or birth, get busy, then, get busy! And, having made your mind up, quite, show by your acts that you are right! Cut grass, cut grass, by day and night, get busy, O, get busy.

HER HOBBLE SKIRT HAS NO EQUILIBRATOR; SHE FALLS

New York Herald.

She progressed across Seventh avenue at Forty-third street shortly after eight o'clock last night, evidently on the way to the theatre. She was also trying out a new hobble skirt of the most constricting variety.

A conservative estimate places her net tonnage at 232 pounds avoirdupois, which she carried with a lateral rolling motion like a milk stool trying to navigate.

This was was partly due to the restrictions of the hobble and partly to the fact that she was economical in the matter of shoes. At the Broadway corner the street had been torn up for repairs and the excavation was filled with about three inches of indifferent water. In attempting to cross this the hobble fired too quickly, and its contents plunged at full length into the pool.

Then the value of knowing how to operate a hobble skirt appeared. Its wearer strove in vain to rise, but the frantic motions of her limbs served only to churn the water into the consistency of putty. Then she tried to get out like a hoop, and had rolled over twice, absorbing all the water that was st liquid, to the great interest of the one thousand odd theatregoers who crowded around.

Policeman Thompson, of Traffic Squad C, went to her assistance, and with the aid of several cab drivers from the Hotel Cadillac rigged a tackle and lifted her to her feet. To her net weight had been added several pounds of water, and she was hoisted over into a nearby drug store. Here she was treated externally with blotting paper, during which process she fainted.

When she revived she told Policeman Thompson that she lived in West Forty-third street and was having her first experience in a hobble skirt. She said she doesn't care for them much.

THIS COUNTRY IS FULL OF EXTREMES

Nice New Compliments Which Bror Kronstrand, the Swedish Portrait Painter, Is Paying Us.

New York World.

"You Americans are so extreme in everything and your country is one of magnificent extremes. Everything you have and everything you do is extreme—your wealth, your buildings and even your philosophy."

That is how Bror Kronstrand, the Swedish portrait painter, who is at present in New York painting the portraits of several of New York's fashionable society leaders, is forming an opinion of the United States and the Americans he has met.

"Nothing you do," he continued, "is ever done on a moderate scale. If you have a train wreck, it seems to me, there is always a score or more hurt. If you have a flood, it is always a dreadful one.

"Even the American woman is an extreme; and, I may add, a most charming one. In most countries the women have beautiful eyes, or noses, or figures, or carriage, or feet; but your women are not content unless they excel in all these charms. Their beauty is extreme. In other countries I have found some very strikingly handsome women, but there they are the exception, not the rule. Here it seems that every woman is beautiful.

"Before I came here I was told I should find the American people at home quite different from what they are when abroad. There they are extremely genial and hospitable, so consequently I was surprised to find Americans on the ship coming over very kind, and by the time I had been in New York City twenty-four hours I was deluged with invitations from your people. This goes to prove they are hospitable in the extreme.

"Your business enterprises are another of your extremes. I go along the streets and see shops, one after another, that must at the least take millions of dollars to establish. When I try to compute the volume of business done by even one of these houses I realize another American extreme."

A Good Position

Can be had by ambitious young men and ladies in the field of "Wireless" or Railway telegraphy. Since the 8-hour law became effective, and since the Wireless companies are establishing stations throughout the country there is a great shortage of telegraphers. Positions pay beginners from $70 to $90 per month, with good chance of advancement. The National Telegraph institute operates six official institutes in America, under supervision of R .R. and Wireless Officials and places all graduates into positions. It will pay you to write them for full details at Cincinnati, O., Philadelphia, Pa., Memphis, Tenn., Davenport, Ia., Columbia, S. C., or Portland, Ore., according to where you wish to enter.

None of the Y. M. C. A. Building Bids Accepted.

A meeting of the directors of the Young Men's Christian Association was held last night to consider the bids for the erection of the proposed Y. M. C. A. building. Four bids had been received. All were rejected for the reason that not one of them was within the limit set for the cost of the building. The directors will in all probability decide to make out with a slightly less expensive building than they had contemplated at first.

WHO'S WHO AND HOW THEY DID IT

Two Young Men—North Carolinians—Make a Brilliant Success in North Carolina's Most Progressive City.

The history of a success is always interesting, and the public are especially interested in the success of young men. Morbid curiosity sometimes impels us to read of failures, but a story of success attracts our attention and holds our interest just as the fairy story interested and fascinated us as children.

On March 11th of last year two young men well known in Greensboro threw open the doors of their place of business at 220 South Elm street and invited their friends and the public generally to come in to see them. Billie Coble and Nick Mebane were so well and favorably known that it was not long before their place of business was a popular resort for men and women who were looking for stylish, up-to-date footwear at reasonable prices.

A reputation for carrying the best merchandise, the most stylish and up-to-date creations, and for giving good values, had much to do with their success, but these two young men made it desirable for the people of Greensboro to patronize them, because of their courteous treatment and honest dealings with their customers.

A business, like an individual, must have character, it must have individuality, it must be conducted on economic principles, which will stand the test of the closest scrutiny. These young men applied to their business the principles which they adhered to as individuals. They had formed economical habits and realized that they could best serve their customers by saving them money, by helping them to be economical, by making it both profitable and pleasant for their customers to patronize them, therefore, they decided to buy and sell for cash. They made up their minds to make their money buy as much as possible, so that their customers' cash would get the greatest possible value, and this is really the keynote to the wonderful success made by these two young men. They buy their shoes direct from one of the largest manufacturers in the United States, taking off all cash discounts, and they sell them to their customers on a small margin of profit, because it is not necessary for them to add a fictitious profit to offset losses which they would sustain if they sold their goods on credit.

Coble & Mebane spells success, success for themselves and success for their customers, because they buy the best shoes on the market, nothing but honest, all leather shoes, which actually wear longer than other shoes at the same prices, and as they sell for cash, their customers buy these shoes at a great saving over what they would have to pay other dealers.

It would seem that a good fairy must have visited their store on the day it was opened and willed that it should be a success from the start, as success was theirs from the first. Their store is not a large one, but they have recently improved and lengthened the store until now it is one of the cosiest and prettiest little shoe stores in this country. If you are so fortunate as to be numbered among their customers, you should drop in just to see what has happened since you were in the store last. If you have never travelled the Coble & Mebane road to success, just drop in some day and let one of these enterprising and courteous young gentlemen show you how easy it is to be successful by economizing, how easy it is to economize by making your money buy its cash value. Every man, woman and child in Greensboro should be proud of the success which these two young men have attained and congratulations are in order. 1t

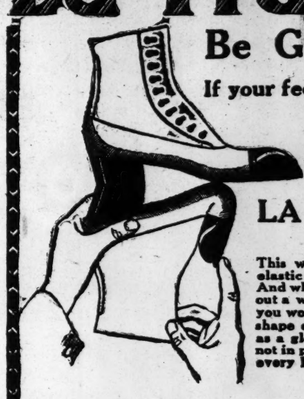
La France SHOE for WOMEN



Be Good To Your Feet

If your feet are tender—if ordinary shoes hurt you so that it is impossible for you to wear a new pair regularly before "breaking them in"—ask to see

LA FRANCE FLEXIBLE
(Goodyear Welt Process)

This wonderfully comfortable shoe is so flexible and elastic that you can bend the toe up as far as you like. And when released, it resumes its original shape without a wrinkle. Put them on and wear them at once—you won't have to "break them in." Conforms to the shape of your foot and fits as smoothly and comfortably as a glove. And these qualities are in addition to, and not in place of, the style and beauty that characterizes every La France model.

FOUR PER CENT. PAID ON SAVINGS DEPOSITS.—FOUR PER CENT.

THE DIFFERENCE

between a dollar saved and a dollar spent is just two dollars. Did it ever occur to you that way? It's worth thinking about.

Another difference is the feeling you have afterward. The dollar saved gives you a feeling of real pleasure—it may call for a little sacrifice for the time being, but afterward you feel better for having denied yourself and the dollar is still yours. That is the nice thing about having money in the bank—you have saved it—it is still yours—you can have it when you wish.

We make it a part of our business to urge you to have a bank account at this bank, for it not only helps our business but yours more so.

GERMAN THRIFT WARMLY PRAISED

Dr. Mitchell Returns Enthusiastic About What He Saw—Everybody Works, He Says.

Baltimore Sun.

It was 25 years ago when Dr. Chas. Wellman Mitchell, a well-known Baltimore physician, visited Germany, where he spent several months in study and travel. He has just returned from another visit to the same land, and declares that the lapse of years has wrought marvelous changes, particularly in industrial awakening.

"I spent three months in Germany, Austria and France this summer with my wife and children," said Dr. Mitchell last night, "and, while I did not enjoy my stay as much as I did my visit of a quarter of a century ago, I was impressed with the fact that Germany is the centre of European development, at least, commercially, but it has lost its old attractiveness and quaintness.

"I traveled extensively all through the country, and scarcely does one pass out of one city before another comes into view. In one section I rode a hundred miles and never passed out of sight of a smokestack. The Germans are workers, and they make every man count. I was in Berlin a large part of the time, and was never accosted for alms, nor did I see a beggar on the streets. This is due to the fact that every body is at work who can raise a hand, and those who cannot are receiving pensions from the Government, which they themselves paid for in weekly instalments, according to law. It is a wonderful system, and exemplifies the beauty and meaning of the paternalism which rules the country.

"Art, of course, is not being developed, and will not as long as the craze for trade continues. The evidence of this is found in the monuments recently erected, where enormous expenditures resulted in too much embellishment, and the central figure is generally hidden from view.

"But great strides have been made in all directions, and the contrast with the balance of Europe is striking. The streets and roads are the best, and policing and lighting are nearly perfect.

"The people are not downtrodden, as often stated, though the taxation is burdensome. This is due in large part to the policy of military readiness of the Government. Every town of a thousand persons has its arsenal and garrison, and Germany's navy is going to be the finest in the world. The railway system is better than our own and safer. The mobilization of troops is made the central idea.

"Germany is spreading its commerce all over the world, and South America and Africa especially are feeling the impress of German activity.

"Germany has taken up the hustle and hustle of America. The comparison of England and Germany shows the latter more active, progressive and, perhaps better governed. In England suffering is intense and Parliament is at a loss to alleviate conditions."

RINGLING DAY NEXT MONDAY

World's Greatest Show Will Soon Erect Its Tents in Greensboro.

The indications are that next Monday will be the greatest circus day in the history of Greensboro. For many years the coming of the Ringling Brothers has been the biggest event of the season in a circus way. No other show has enjoyed the popularity of this one. Report now has it that the organization is even more attractive than ever. It has made New York City sit up in amazement. It is coming here with the self-same company of European artists, the same parade and the same menagerie.

Two performances will be given. The parade will take place at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, and the doors will be thrown open to the public at 1 and 7 o'clock. The down town ticket office will be located at the Greensboro Drug Co's. Store. Reserved seats and admissions can be bought there at the regular prices. There will be an immense crowd in town. Everything points to a record in crowds. Those who dislike to get into the jam around the ticket wagons will do well to buy their seats in advance.

The railroads are making extensive preparations. They expect to bring more visitors to town than ever came before in a single day. Ringling Brothers' circus has peculiar drawing power. People come from a greater distance to see it and go home better satisfied.

Already the vanguard of the circus are arriving in the city to make final preparations for the event. The "twenty-four" hour man is expected hourly. He is the man who lays out the parade route, inspects streets and bridges and superintends the hundred-and-one details necessary to a succesful circus day. A. L. Webb, the steward of the show, will arrive soon to buy the day's provisions for the army of men and women and the 2,000 animals, wild and domestic. Webb's shopping costs the circus management over $2,000 every day. He buys everything in the local markets.

A brief outline of the performances to be given here may be of interest to those who like to peek into their surprise packages before they lay their money down. In the first place, there are the Schuman trained horses. They come from the Circus Schuman of Berlin, Scheveningen and Hamburg. This is their first appearance in this country. In fact, it will be the first time Americans have ever seen a real trained horse act. Schuman is ten times a millionaire. He has made his money training and exhibiting horses. In Germany they call him a wizard. He has done with the horse what no other man has ever succeeded in doing. Then there are the telephoning elephants, another imported act that is worth traveling miles to see; the Arthur Saxon trio of the world's strongest men, still another new specialty; the Lorch family of acrobats, for the first time in America; the wonderful Alexis, aerialists, the Dutton family of riders, Robledillo, the greatest high-wire artist on earth, the aerial Klarkonians and the funniest company of clowns ever seen.

The parade is all new and three miles long. The menagerie is greatly enlarged. It contains over 1,000 specimens of lower animal life, chief among which is Darwin, the missing link. Here is an opportunity of a lifetime for circus devotees to gorge themselves.

Capt. Bogardus Again Hits the Bull's Eye.

This world famous rifle shot who holds the championship record of 100 pigeons in 100 consecutive shots is living at Lincoln, Ill. Recently interviewed, he says:—"I suffered a long time with kidney and bladder trouble and used several medicines, all of which gave me no relief until I started taking Foley Kidney Pills. Before I used Foley Kidney Pills I had severe backaches and pains in my kidneys with suppression and a cloudy voiding. On arising in the morning I would get dull headaches. Now I have taken three bottles of Foley Kidney Pills and feel 100 per cent better. I am never bothered with my kidneys or bladder and again feel like my own self." Sold by Howard Gardner.

We gather wisdom with the years, but unfortunately the years don't leave us much time to make use of it.

A Reliable Medicine—Not a Narcotic.

Despair and Despondency

No one but a woman can tell the story of the suffering, the despair, and the despondency endured by women who carry a daily burden of ill-health and pain because of disorders and derangements of the delicate and important organs that are distinctly feminine. The tortures so bravely endured completely upset the nerves if long continued.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a positive cure for weakness and disease of the feminine organism.

IT MAKES WEAK WOMEN STRONG, SICK WOMEN WELL.

It allays inflammation, heals ulceration and soothes pain. It tones and builds up the nerves. It fits for wifehood and motherhood. Honest medicine dealers sell it, and have nothing to urge upon you as "just as good."

It is non-secret, non-alcoholic and has a record of forty years of cures. ASK YOUR NEIGHBORS. They probably know of some of its many cures.

If you want a book that tells all about woman's diseases, and how to cure them at home, send 21 one-cent stamps to Dr. Pierce to pay cost of mailing only, and he will send you a free copy of his great thousand-page illustrated Common Sense Medical Adviser—revised, up-to date edition, in paper covers. For Women's Ills

Mrs. Fannie Ellis, of Foster, Ark., suffered agony for seven years. Read her letter about Cardui. She writes: "I was sick for seven years with female trouble. Every month I would very nearly die with my head and back. I took 12 bottles of Cardui and was cured. Cardui is a God-send to suffering women." Try it.

TAPPED 8 TIMES

The following in an extreme case of chronic Bright's Disease will interest physicians due to the fact that tapping has heretofore invariably attended fatal terminations. Under the new emollient treatment tapping does not prevent recovery.

Patient—six years old—the young son of A. C. Dean, of 1726 Ninth Avenue, Oakland, Cal.

Chronic Bright's. Dropsy that had resisted all efforts was continually increasing. The family physician gave no hope and said the end was near.

At this critical moment the treatment was changed to Fulton's Renal Compound, the physician aiding it by holding up the heart and strengthening the little patient against collapse.

Case very stubborn—dropsy was so oppressive that the patient had to be tapped eight times. But as the tappings became further apart the albumen began to decline, diuresis increased, and the patient made a slow but steady recovery, and is now going to the public school in Oakland.

The emollient treatment for Bright's and chronic kidney disease (Fulton's Renal Compound) shows an efficiency in about 87 per cent of these hitherto incurable and fatal diseases. It can be had in Greensboro at Fariss-Klutz Drug Co.

We desire to hear from and advise with patients not noting improvement by the third week. Literature mailed free. John J. Fulton Co., 645 Batttery St., San Francisco, Cal. We invite correspondence with physicians who have obstinate cases.

GREATEST MEDICINE ON EARTH

A prominent citizen of Evansville, Ind., writes:—"I was ill for five months with a pulmonary trouble, and had the best of doctors: —I had hemorrhages and was in a very bad way. Through the advice of a friend I tried Vinol, and I feel that it saved my life. It is all you recommend it to be. I believe it is the greatest medicine on earth. I have advised others to try Vinol, and they have had the same results." (Name furnished on request.)

We want every one in this vicinity who is troubled with chronic colds—coughs—or pulmonary troubles—to come to our store and get a bottle of Vinol.

If it does not go to the seat of trouble—heal the inflammation and stop the cough—we will cheerfully return every cent paid us for it. This shows our faith—and proves that you take no chances. Do we mean it? Come and see. Fariss-Klutz Drug Co., Greensboro, N. C.

THE WAY OF THE SWISS.

Foreigners Regarded as Egyptians and Treated Accordingly.

A foreign resident in Switzerland was fined 10 francs because his little girl had plucked three buttercups growing on a piece of land on which she and some half dozen Swiss children had for years been accustomed to play. The land had recently changed hands, and its new owner had put up a notice forbidding the plucking of flowers. A passing gendarme had found the children flagrante delicto and had forthwith instituted proceedings against the little foreigner, while letting the little natives go scot free. The child's father appealed against the sentence and by dint of hard fighting, which entailed, of course, expense, forced the higher court to reduce the fine from 10 francs to 3—i. e., 1 franc for each buttercup.

When I tried to learn the whys and wherefores of this case I was told by a Swiss that one-half of every fine levied goes to the gendarme who reports the offense for which it is levied, and also that Swiss gendarmes cannot fairly be expected to be quite so alert in taking proceedings against their own country people as against foreigners.

Further, I was told by an American that in Switzerland all foreigners rank as Egyptians and that the one Scriptural injunction that is faithfully obeyed there is that which ordains that Egyptians shall be spoiled.—From "The Latter Day Swiss" in Cornhill Magazine.

"It Beats All."

This is quoted from a letter of M. Stockwell, Hannibal, Mo. "I recently used Foley's Honey and Tar for the first time. To say I am pleased does not half express my feelings. It beats all the remedies I ever used. I contracted a bad cold and was threatened with pneumonia. The first dose gave great relief and one bottle completely cured me." Contains no opiates. Money Boxes.

Money boxes to encourage thrift among the penny wise are ancient and popular institutions. A dictionary of 1585 mentions "money boxes of potter's clay wherein boys put their money to keepe," and doubtless the thrifty child of all ages had his money box of some sort or another. Of late years tin has been the favorite material, but the writer has recollections of an elaborate earthenware thatched cottage, into which the money was dropped through a slit in the roof, which only infinite patience could hit again when it came to wriggling the money out. As a lock-up investment that cottage was unequaled.—Glasgow Herald.

A Famous Opal.

The most famous opal in history was that which was worn in a ring by the Roman senator Nonius in the day of the triumvirate. Its size equaled that of a medium sized hazelnut, yet its beauty and brilliancy rendered it a marvel among the dilettanti of Rome, especially when it was known that the goldsmiths and money changers had set its value at $1,000,000. Mark Antony made overtures to Nonius for its purchase, intending, it is thought, to present it to Cleopatra, but the senator refused to part with it and for fear that it would be taken from him by sheer force sought safety in flight. Here history loses all trace of this famous gem, there being no record of its transference from Nonius to any of his family.

At a Wedding Breakfast.

After a marriage recently the bridal party partook of a sumptuous breakfast, toward the end of which a younger brother of the bride got up and said solemnly, raising his glass:

"Ladies and gentlemen, I have to propose a toast, which, however, must be drunk standing. Please take your glasses and rise up."

The guests, although somewhat bewildered, did so.

"Now," said the young scapegrace, "if you will remain standing for a few minutes I'll find out who has been sitting on my new hat."—London Tit-Bits.

Russia.

Russia did not break into European history until compartively recent times. Ruric, a Varengian chief, seems to have been the first to establish a government, about 862. Ruric's descendants ruled amid many ups and downs till 1598, at which time the real history of the country may be said to begin. With the solitary exception of the United States of America, the progress of Russia under Peter the Great and Catherine II. is unequaled for rapidity in the history of the world.

Bringing Down the Average.

"It is said that there are 120,000 hairs on the average human head," said the baldheaded man.

"Too bad that you've pulled the average down so low, my dear," said his wife.—Yonkers Statesman.

A Cruel Companion.

"Why does he say that her face is like one of Browning's poems?"

"Because it has some hard lines in it."—Buffalo Express.

and gently reared, women will find in all the seasons of their lives, as maidens, wives and mothers, that the one simple, wholesome laxative remedy, which acts gently and pleasantly and naturally and which may be taken at any time, when the system needs a laxative, with perfect safety and really beneficial effects, is Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna.

It has that true delicacy of flavor which is so refreshing to the taste, that warming and grateful toning to the stomach which responds so favorably to its action and the laxative effect which is so beneficial to the system when, occasionally, its gentle cleansing is required.
